Subject: Letter of Application – Data Analyst

To whom it may concern

I came across your company from a job post in LinkedIn and honestly, I was intrigued by the fact that this was a company geared towards data analytics in the domain of consultancy. It did pique my interest further that a large part of the community was about technological solutions geared towards Mobile development and UI/UX which I must admit appealed to my creative side. And I was just honestly curious how data analytics could be integrated with your company's way of business.

Truth be told I'm just a fresh graduate, someone who's eagerly looking to learn and absorb a lot of information from more senior professionals, and when I sought to check your website <https://www.jway.com/> and saw that your company was looking for people fond and with a passion for data analysis I had to write this letter in due time.

For context I did focus on data science, AI, and ML in my undergrad where our thesis involved leading the development of a bio-signal interference detection system, which put to use my analytical and technical skills. And while I have experience in building predictive models and I am now particularly keen to focus on data analytics and have done so by building some personal projects with the goal of deepening my understanding through practical application. My internships have also provided valuable exposure to big data processes at scale which I think will be beneficial should I be given the chance to work at JWAY.

That said like any other person trying to look for his first ever job, I know I still have a lot of room to grow, I know I still have a lot to learn, and I am willingly all for it because if there's one thing that separates me from others it's my unique trait of always having fun learning new things – the process so to speak, all I honestly need is a chance...a shot like any other person starting out in his career.

So, if it makes sense to talk, I'd greatly appreciate the opportunity to discuss with you further how my skills and interests might fit into the tech team there at JWAY GROUP. Have a great day ahead.

Thank you and Best Regards,

Larry
