Subject: Letter of Application – Data Analytics Related Role

To whom it may concern

I write this because I've long admired Bank of Commerce's capability as a well-known banking company, and I was curious enough to always check out your company website <https://hris.bankcom.com.ph/rms/Careers> often for career openings particularly in the field of data analytics, as well as ask some people who work there what it's really like, because like anybody else I honestly aspire to be a part of this company for the sole reason of wanting to give value with my unique skill sets and character I hold. Apart from the positive feedback I've heard about your work culture and compensation; being able to grow and learning constantly as an investment for the future are values the people I've come across say is fostered there and honestly, it's something I want to be a part of given it just resonates with who I am individually.

For context I did focus on data science, AI, and ML in my undergrad where our thesis involved leading the development of a bio-signal interference detection system, which put to use my analytical and technical skills. And while I have experience in building predictive models and I am now particularly keen to focus on data analytics and have done so by building some personal projects with the goal of deepening my understanding through practical application. My internships have also provided valuable exposure to big data processes at scale which I think will be beneficial should I be given the chance to work at the Bank of Commerce.

Truth be told I'm just a fresh graduate looking for my first job in IT (particularly in Data Analytics) because it's something I've always been passionate about, and when I sought to hear about people's opinions about working there and the countless openings I saw in your website, I just had to write this letter in due time.

That said like any other person trying to look for his first ever job, I know I still have a lot of room to grow, I know I still have a lot to learn, and I am willingly all for it because if there's one thing that separates me from others it's my unique trait of always having fun learning new things – the process so to speak, all I honestly need is a chance...a shot like any other person starting out in his career.

So, if it makes sense to talk, I'd greatly appreciate the opportunity to discuss with you further how my skills and interests might fit into the tech team there at the Bank of Commerce. Have a great day ahead.

Thank you and Best Regards,

Larry
